Shakespeare's Famous Play "A Midsummer Night's Dream" Thurs. of Next Week, Mat., Night

THE FERGUSON THEATRE is the 14th in all the world to secure this Great Production, and the second in Texas. "A Midsummer Night's Dream" Is Not Just another picture show—it is a Representation of the Shakespearean Play, by screen on a Scale Far More Magnificent than the Great Author Ever Dreamed. It takes three full hours to PRODUCE it. The Herald takes a peculiar pleasure in magnifying the coming of one of the greatest picture productions that modern science has been able to produce. When we say THAT, it is saying a great deal.

Often you have heard expressions that "I wish they would produce something beautiful and worth while on the picture screen." Then your fondest hopes and dreams are about to come true.

The Management of the Ferguson Theatre is to be congratulated in securing the Screen Production of "A Midsummer Night's Dream." In all parts of the world, where English is spoken and in most countries where no English is used, Shakespeare's Plays have been studied for three hundred years.

For a small town and community to have this opportunity, is a real treat. It should be seen by every child in all the Hamlin territory. The "Dream" will create in his mind a love for better literature, and carry him away from the sordid things of crime and despair.

This screen production is said to be greater than "The Birth of a Nation." "A Midsummer Night's Dream" is not for mere entertainment, it is very educational. In this, one may see scenes that prove the unlimited cunning of science, that Hollywood Studios have brought into action to make things look real.

The admission prices will depend on where you get a reserved seat. There will be performances in the afternoon, and at night. The evening performances will of course, cost a little more.

Here is one thing to keep in mind: When the screen opens on "A Midsummer Night's Dream," no coming in and going out will be permitted. It is continuous, as was originally played, in the old crude fashion, and to keep the story unbroken, it is necessary to keep right on through to the end. At the midway point, an intermission of ten minutes will be permitted, for relaxation.

HAMLIN WOMEN SPONSORING

"A MIDSUMMER NIGHT'S DREAM," being educational, and a real artists dream—therefore it is perfectly natural that such clubs as the Hamlin P.T.A.; the Womans Literary Club and the Schubert Music Club should be happy to sponsor it in Hamlin. Committees from these clubs are soliciting advance sale of tickets, and from their sales a sizable commission will be allowed by Warner Brothers, the Producers, and the local theatre.

Many a time you have paid far more to see a circus than it will cost to enjoy three hours of this wonderful Shakespearean creation, in a clean comfortable building. It is farm from being a rough and tumble that causes regrets for seeing, but it is a modern, perfect way of bringing out just what "Bill Shakespeare" had in mind.

Do you like grand music? This is your chance to hear a real symphony band. Do you love pretty scenery, if so in this "Dream" you will get to see pictures of a real forest and shrubbery, weighing tons and tons, dug up and transported to a specially built studio building, 800 feet long and four stories high, and kept there nine months under artificial lights, heat and moisture.

It seems that there is no further need in going into details about this wonderful play. The Herald man sat for two hours last Saturday listening to a technical explanation of the production of "A Midsummer Night's Dream," by Mr. W. W. BRUMBERG, who was present and assisted in the making of the production in Hollywood. The only thing here advisable, to increase your appreciation of the picture, is to get down your old copy of Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream" and re-read it. Yes, you will get double enjoyment then.

T. B. BEVAN DIED MONDAY NIGHT

T. B. Bevan, age 68 years, died at his home at Plasterco, Monday night, January 6, at 11:45 o'clock.

The deceased had been in ill health for several years, but never serious, till on Friday before his death.

T. B. Bevan was born in Carroll county, Ga., Oct. 7, 1867. Came to Texas with his family in 1921, and settled at Hermleigh, Texas, and moved to Plasterco in the summer of 1933. He was married to Miss Julia Hambree in 1888, and to this union there were eleven children, six of whom, along with their mother, survive. The surviving children are as follows: J. A. Bevan, Corban Hill, Alabama; Willie M. Bevan, Corona, Ala.; Mrs. B. J. Reynolds, Checotah, Okla.; Lester Bevan, and Silas Bevan, Hermleigh, and Paul Bevan, of Plasterco.

The deceased is survived by only one sister, Mrs. Mary Jane Godfrey of Villa Rica, Ga.

Mr. Bevan had been a member of the Baptist church from early manhood, always faithful and devoted to the cause of Christianity. He was a loving companion and father.

Funeral services were held at the Plasterco Baptist church Tuesday afternoon, by the pastor, Rev. Mathis and Rev. Todd and Rev. Story.

Barrow Funeral Directors had charge of the body and interment was in East cemetery, Hamlin.

NOTICE GOLFERS

A special meeting of the Hamlin Lake View Golf Club is called for Monday night, Jan. 16th, 1936, at seven o'clock at the F. & M. National Bank. All members are requested to be present.

E. W. WINKLES DIED ON WEDNESDAY

One of South Hamlin's prominent men, E. W. Winkles, died at his home and place of business, early Wednesday morning, age 66 years, 8 months and 22 days.

Mr. Winkles was a native of Alabama, and had spent more than forty years in Texas. He came first to Denton County and later lived in Ellis County, and also in Titus, Dickens and Fisher counties. He came to Jones County in 1920. He engaged in merchandising at Neinda and later established a good business in South Hamlin.

Mr. Winkles was a member of the Methodist Church and always took active interest in its work and progress. He had served his church in many important capacities, Sunday Superintendent and on the board of stewards.

Those of his family surviving, includes a wife by a second marriage and one brother, B. W. Winkles and six daughters and three sons.

The children are Leslie Winkles of Portland, Texas; Ballard Winkles, of Plainview, and Alfred, of Hamlin. The daughters are Mrs. Lee Hopper, of Hamlin; Mrs. Flora Alexander and Mrs. Alice Day of Afton; Mrs. King, of Wilson; Mrs. Bill White and Mrs. Josie King, of Hamlin. There are twenty-eight grand children and six great grand children.

Funeral services were conducted Thursday afternoon at the Hamlin Methodist Church, by the pastor, Rev. Longino.

Maples Funeral Home was in charge of the body and interment was in Hamlin East Cemetery.

BASKET BALL GAMES STARTED

The Pied Pipers opened their conference basketball campaign last Tuesday night at Anson, by beating Anson 36 to 16. This was victory number 20 for the Pipers, against no defeats.

Friday and Saturday the Pipers enter the Colorado Tournament with high hopes of winning the tournament. Sixteen of the best teams in west Texas are entered in this tournament.

Monday evening at 7:30 the Pipers play Colorado on the home gym. Come on out and see one of the best basket ball teams in west Texas pore it on the Colorado Wolves.

Remember the Hamlin Tournament, January 17 and 18.

BACK IN HAMLIN

Monday, Mr. and Mrs. Garland Tumlin arrived Mon. from Gainesville, Ga., where Garland had spent several months with his mother and resting to regain his health. It was evident that he had improved and was feeling very happy to get back in Hamlin. Garland has a host of friends here and all are delighted to see him again and looking better.

PLEASE PAY SCHOOL TAXES SAYS BOARD

Below, customers of the Hamlin Public Schools, and for that matter, citizens of the Hamlin Independent School District, will see a very appropriate appeal of the School Board for taxes to be paid.

Surely, this appeal will find sympathetic ears. Surely everybody who can possibly pay their taxes will understand that this community can not have a school without school taxes being paid. There is no use in anyone shirking this tax — its the most needed tax in all the world—and its so necessary to pay school taxes that property would not be worth much without schools the tax supports.

An occasional article on "Taxation" is in order. The past few years nearly every individual has been hard pressed, and could not pay every cent of their taxes—some could and did not because others could not. In this community and in this county, the authorities have been very patient about "forcing tax payment"—and that is appreciated by those who want to and can't, and those who want to and can not—they are like the sick, who has to take whatever comes along, realizing that they are helpless. To force a "helpless" person to pay in times like we have had in the immediate past, would be inhuman—but the fellow who holds back his tax money, under a pretext, when it belongs to operating expenses, he is the one who deserves no sympathy. The point we are trying to make is that school taxes are needed so badly and there are some who CAN pay, and they should hurry up. In time ALL will and must pay, and don't forget that. But read what the Board says:

"Will you please pay your Hamlin school taxes?"

We wish that we could operate our local schools without any cost, but this is impossible. We have, however, reduced the cost to its lowest minimum. Teachers' salaries have been reduced until they are below salaries paid elsewhere and are below the standard set by the State Department of Education. The amount of insurance has been lowered, the cost of assessing and collecting school taxes has been lessened several hundred dollars, and only the absolute necessities have been bought. This rigid economy, however, does not bring the expenditures within the amount of local school taxes received. More people need to pay their school taxes.

We readily provide food, clothing, automobile conveyance, a good home and some of the luxuries for our children but are too often negligent in the payment of school taxes. It is just as necessary to provide for the essentials of a school as it is to provide for the essentials of a home. One's personal interest in his child should impel him to contribute his part toward having the best school advantages for his child. We are making an appeal for this to be done.

We need your school tax money with which to pay our heavy school expenditures, such as payment on school bonds, fuel, insurance, salaries, equipment, repairs, etc.

Will you please pay your school taxes?

Sincerely,
HAMLIN SCHOOL BOARD

YOUNG MAN SUFFERS FROM GUN SHOT

Gaylon Robertson, age 24 years, single, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Robertson, of South Hamlin, was wounded painfully and perhaps seriously last Sunday afternoon in the home of Morton Keen, east of Hamlin.

Circumstances leading to and surrounding this shooting will be developed in the courts. About all the Herald can say here, is that it was a very regrettable affair. From reliable information, sometime in the early afternoon, Sunday, Morton Keen came up the Main street of Hamlin and stopped in front of the Safeway Store, where Robertson and Alton Dean were standing. Morton motioned for Roberts to come out to the truck. On entering the truck, Gaylon motioned for Dean to come, too, but before Dean could reach the truck, Keen put the Power on and dashed away.

The next thing observed was Robertson crawling out of the Keen residence, calling for help, and warning those present not to enter the house. This was about 3:00 p. m.

Enought to say here that Robertson suffered a load of shot, shown by Ex-Ray, to be bird shot, in the region of the left hip. How it happened is between the two men, for no one was in the house except the two, Robertson was hurried to the Hamlin Hospital where first aid was given. Later he was taken to his home in South Hamlin. His condition seemed satisfactory.

Morton Keen was placed under bond to await grand jury investigation.

GEO. W. CONNELL FOR COUNTY TREASURER

To the People of Jones County: I am asking for your vote and influence strictly on my own merits and qualifications for county treasurer.

I was born and reared on a farm two and one-half miles south of Hamlin, Jones county, Texas.

I am an ex-service man. I served twenty-two months, enlisted in 1917 and served thirteen months over seas, five months of which I served in the Army of Occupation in Germany.

I attended school at the Hamlin and Sweetwater high schools and after graduating I spent ten months attending the Roberts Commercial College of Stamford, Texas, and successfully completed a course in accounting, typing and shorthand.

I took my first job with the First State Bank of Stamford, Texas in September, 1915 as bookkeeper and stenographer, which position I held until September, 1917, at which time I joined the U. S. Army. Upon my return from the Army, I re-entered the employment of the First State Bank of Stamford and took charge of the bookkeeping department and held this position until June 1st., 1924, at which time I entered the Fire Insurance and Real Estate business in Stamford and continued in this business until November, 1931. I sold my Fire Insurance and Real Estate business in 1931 and entered the Life Insurance business. I was appraiser for the Home Owners Loan Corporation in Jones county during its operative existence. At present I am employed in the Police Department of the city of Stamford, Texas.

I am forty-one years of age, married, and have one child. I invite investigation of my record among you, and should you feel that I am qualified to discharge the duties attendant upon the office, I will greatly appreciate your support, and in return pledge you my very best efforts at all times in the discharge of my duties.

Sincerely,
GEORGE W. CONNELL.

R. E. Murff of Rotan has leased the Otis Hopper Barber Shop. Otis still "hangs around", being boss of the first chair as a "hired hand." This means Otis will take time out for more fishing and hunting, perhaps a little golf. Mr. Murff is a married man and is on the look-out for a house. In the meantime, he and his wife are at his parents, near the Carlton school.

What you know is not determined by the college you attended.

JOHN A. ROBERTS BUYS

COLLIER TAILORING SHOP

One of the old-timer business concerns of Hamlin passed into new hands this week, when W. W. Collier sold his tailoring shop to Mr. John A. Roberts, of Anson.

Mr. Roberts took charge Monday morning and he is now trying to find a house in Hamlin to move his family from Anson. Mr. Roberts has a wife and two daughters, ages two and five years.

Mr. Roberts is no stranger to many people, in and near Hamlin. He was principal of the Neinda school for one year and the past nine and half years he has been principal of the Anson High school. This at once fixes Mr. Roberts and his family as being an asset to our community.

In this week's Herald, Mr. Roberts is making his formal introduction to you and asking for a part of your business.

Mr. Collier, has for the time being retired from active business, and is resting and regaining his health. It will not sound right to hear of his shop being called by another name. The many friends of Mr. Collier will wish for him regained health and to again be in some kind of business in Hamlin.

Don't insult him who tries to collect what you owe him.

P. F. Walsh of Ft. Worth, was a guest Thursday in the home of J. E. a guest of Mr. and Mrs. V. W. Day Moody and family. from Saturday 'till Monday.

Mechanical Marvel

The donkey's head, worn by James Cagney (above) in his role as "Bottom" in "A Midsummer Night's Dream," which appears at the FERGUSON THEATRE on Thursday, Jan. 16, matinee and night, can eat, weep, smile, talk and roll its eyes. Cagney's interpretation of the role has been acclaimed by Max Reinhardt the producer.

'DREAM' ACCLAIMED
AS THE ONE PERFECT
STORY FOR MOVIES

The plays of William Shakespeare run the gamut of human emotions. He was and is the world's unchallenged poet of the drama. But of all his masterpieces, there is none that can approach in fantasy, in humor and in imaginative qualities, his "A Midsummer Night's Dream," which produced as a motion picture by Warner Bros. will open at the FERGUSON THEATRE on Thursday afternoon, Jan. 16.

"A Midsummer Night's Dream" is a play of fancy and a plea for fancy. It is a dream within a dream, in which the dreamers themselves form a definite part of their own dream world. Perhaps its greatest lesson—perhaps indeed—what Shakespeare intended to convey is the fallacy of taking ourselves too seriously; very well summed-up in Puck's own phrase "What fools these mortals be." "A Midsummer Night's Dream" is, after all, the story of the mischievous little imp, Puck, who scrambles love affairs while the lovers sleep in the moonlight. It is a plea for people to forget the realities of life and give themselves over to blithe nonsense.

The character of Puck was a household fairy of the early Scandinavian people, among whom he was known by various names. "Puki" was the Norse, while the Danish name was "Pokker." The Celts called him "Puka," but in all the Scandinavian mythology he was supposed to play all sorts of pranks, such as misleading travellers by assuming the shape of false lights. Or perchance he would clean up the house at night for maids who attracted his impish fancy. He has been known to upset the cream jar and mix salt with sugar as well as to lead a starving good-wife to a buried treasure.

In "A Midsummer Night's Dream" Puck makes use of a magic herb which he rubs on the eyes of sleepers, both mortal and immortal, with the result that they fall in love with the person on whom their eyes rest when they awake. This could only have the most laughable consequences.

William Shakespeare, of course, could not have imagined motion pictures, but in "A Midsummer Night's Dream" he creates the perfect motion picture story. He blended together fantasy and farce, romance and pathos, thrills and suspense, jealousy and agony. It was these ingredients that the genius of Max Reinhardt transferred to the screen and produced what is conceded to be the outstanding picture of all time.

Two Casts of Makeup Give Face "Terrorizing Light"

"His face must shine with a terrorizing light."

This was an order given by Dr. Max Reinhardt, director of "A Midsummer Night's Dream," when he was discussing the makeup of Victor Jory as Oberon, evil fairy king.

Studio experts worked for a week to devise a way of making Oberon look as inhuman and demonic as possible. They finally discovered that a heavy coating of blue makeup paint with a light coating of green on top, gave the proper effect.

DEAR RAMBLER — Keep this nice work up. It's great of you to help us pick up some good news.

Max Reinhardt Calls Cagney "Best Actor in Hollywood"

Who deserves the title of the best actor in Hollywood?

Dr. Max Reinhardt, director of "A Midsummer Night's Dream" believes it should belong to James Cagney.

"Few artists," says Dr. Reinhardt, "have the strange intensity, the dramatic drive, of this red-haired young man. Every movement of his body tells the story he was trying to tell."

Cagney plays Bottom in the Shakespeare comedy.

BUSINESS TREND

SHOWS UPWARD

Austin, Texas, Jan. 6.—Prospects for a continued improvement in business conditions are apparent as the new year starts, in the opinion of Dr. F. A. Buechel, assistant director and statistician in the Bureau of Business Research, University of Texas.

"The upward trend in general business activity which began in July has not yet been reversed, but during the past three weeks the rate of increase has slackened considerably, and there are indications that a temporary recession in industrial activity may occur early in the new year," Dr. Buechel pointed out. "Notwithstanding this possibility, the outlook for next spring and the entire year 1936 is distinctly promising. Such uncertainties as exist are mostly of political origin — the convening of Congress, and the tradition, unfounded though it may be, that a presidential election year is detrimental to business.

"Among the reasons for expecting a relatively good business year in 1936 are: The cumulative improvement in farm buying power; the probable cyclical upswing in construction, both residential and commercial, as well as in other durable goods industries; and the present tendency of many industrial concerns to launch programs of plan improvement with the view to lowering costs of production as evidenced by the sharp rise in activity in the machine tools industry.

Although these constructive forces will, in part, be offset by growing taxes, a widening of profit margins should nevertheless result as industry attains more nearly its normal production stride." — Texas University News Service.

Mrs. Caswell F. Carr returned Saturday to her home in Houston, after visiting two weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Rowland.

Highest Priced Chorus

In New Reinhardt Film

There are only seven members in the highest priced dancing chorus in Hollywood!

Max Reinhardt himself directed it, with the assistance of Nina Theilade, Europe's leading choreographer.

James Cagney and Joe E. Brown lead the number. The ensemble includes Hugh Herbert, Frank McHugh, Otis Harlan, Dewey Robinson and Arthur Treacher.

It's a comedy ballet! A gorgeous travesty!

A highlight of low comedy in "A Midsummer Night's Dream," the Warner Bros. spectacle which comes to the FERGUSON THEATRE on Thursday, Jan. 16.

It's a mighty expensive act.

Scenes from "A Midsummer Night's Dream"

Filming of Shakespeare Play Is Gigantic Task

No Picture Ever Required Such Elaborate Work
As "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

No picture yet produced in Hollywood has required the same elaborate scheme of preparation as "A Midsummer Night's Dream," the Warner Bros. production which comes to the FERGUSON THEATRE on Thursday, Jan. 16.

To Reinhardt, the smallest detail is important because it is part of his general plan. The proper emphasis on a line of dialogue by his leading man bears a direct relation to the spangles on a fairy's costume.

Everything is part of a unified whole.

Decisions on apparently small details are weighty matters to Reinhardt. Everything touches his preconceived picture.

The script, written by Charles Kenyon and Mary McCall, Jr., required many weeks of discussion and conferences, involving Henry Blanke, associate producer, William Dieterle, director, and of the major executives, Jack Warner, head of the Warner studios, William Koenig and Hal Wallis.

Then preparation began in earnest.

It was necessary to organize the work into three general divisions—dramatic, ballet and technical, with many subdivisions.

The ballets were in charge of Bronislawa Nijinska, considered Europe's greatest ballerina, and Nina Theilade. The former is a sister of Nijinska and best known as Ballet Maestra of the Paris Grand Opera.

Creates New Department

The dramatic direction began with play readings, similar to those ordinarily employed by stage directors, but with the one great difference—that Reinhardt supervised the reading of every word, down to the finest nuances.

Principles in "A Midsummer Night's Dream" not only had to learn lines, but had to absorb Reinhardt's extraordinary conception of Shakespearean drama.

Meanwhile Art Director Anton Grot, with his assistants, worked continuously on sketches.

Some of Reinhardt's imagery required the establishment of an entirely new department, under Percy Westmore.

This department was paradoxically the most practical while at the same time the most credible in its functions, making masks for the gnomes, a tail for Puck, the donkey's head for Bottom, fifty pairs of bats' wings, a crown for Oberon, of Abalone shell!

Twelve strange masks were made to reproduce the famous Goblin sketches of Arthur Rackham. They were modelled over the faces of dwarfs, found in Hollywood's melting pot of all earthly types.

Remarkable Costumes

These dwarfs, fitted with faces that only a Rackham could have conceived, were such perfect figures of living gnomes, that it was difficult to detect the thin line between reality and unreality.

Max Ree, who designed the costumes for Reinhardt's European production of "A Midsummer Night's Dream," allowed his fancy a freer rein than for the stage. He kept a whole corps of designers busy.

Many materials required for costumes had to be woven to order, some obtained from abroad. A thousand accessories, such as wands, crowns, bandeaux and jewelled ornaments that completed the tout ensemble of the costuming had to be specially made.

Clay Campbell and other sculptors designed numerous statues, figurines and even specially shaped leaves for some of the trees in the woodland scenes. All of these had to be modelled first in plaster.

Hundreds of technicians worked incessantly on mechanical details of effects never before found necessary in their screen experience. Max Reinhardt made new demands upon screen resources.

An artist may conceive the idea of a fairy dancing on a dew-dipped leaf, but only an engineer can make it a believable reality before the relentless eye of the camera.

In "A Midsummer Night's Dream," gnomes, elves, sprites and fairies continuously perform unbelievable things—believably.

Model Builders Busy

Model builders worked night and day so that both Reinhardt and Nijinska could co-relate their work on the mass spectacles. Small scale models of every set—complete to the minutest detail—had to be rushed in order not to hold up the super-expensive cast, and the four hundred ballet dancers.

The property department was called upon for literally thousands of things never needed in an ordinary picture. Men scoured the country for the props necessary for the fantastic settings, while others were making things that were never before imagined, such as the instruments for the Fairy Symphony.

"A Midsummer Night's Dream" is sheer fantasy. It is built on the glorious nonsense of humanity summed up in Puck's immortal comment, "Lord, what Fools These Mortals Be!"

Reinhardt sees "A Midsummer Night's Dream" as a play that must never impinge on reality. He transports his audience to another world, where anything might happen and be believed.

Artistry and imagination run riot. The Warner Studios shaped all their facilities to bring the genius of Reinhardt to the screen in a manner to take full advantage of the camera's scope.

There is an all star cast which includes James Cagney, Joe E. Brown, Dick Powell, Jean Muir, Victor Jory, Verree Teasdale, Anita Louise, Hugh Herbert, Frank McHugh and many others.

If Ghosts Walked, Shakespeare Would See a Dream Come True

The Bard of Avon Would Find In "A Midsummer Night's Dream," Scenes Which Existed Only In His Imagination

If ghosts really walked and William Shakespeare could wander into a modern movie house where "A Midsummer Night's Dream" was being shown, he would be amazed at what he saw on the screen, to a man who lived in an age when both stage sets and photography were unknown, the effect of characters flashing on a flat surface against a gorgeous background of woodland and the marble halls of Theseus' palace, would seem like magic.

But when once he recovered from the shock of the new and strange mechanics of motion pictures, he could not help being thrilled at the faithful presentation which Dr. Max Reinhardt, who directed the picture for Warner Brothers, has given to the play the poet of Avon wrote more than three centuries ago.

Close to Author's Idea

Probably never, in the many times the fantasy has been given on stage all over the world, has it come closer to the picture that existed in the author's mind when he conceived it. In early days, the whole action had to take place on a bare stage and the audience had to imagine the settings. Later, scenery was used, but it was impossible, even with a large stage and clever designers, to get the effects which Dr. Reinhardt has achieved in the screen version.

As you look at the picture, the woodland seems endless—not limited by a backdrop as it must be on the stage. The cobwebs, called by Shakespeare "jewelled," are really jewelled. There is a moonbeam down which Oberon slides and on which more than 100 fairies dance. The head of Bottom, the weaver, is transformed in a flash into an ass's head by Puck, the mischievous fairy. Oberon arrives in the forest with his company of huge black bats and—thanks to expert technicians—they really look like bats. Everything, in fact, is just as it was imagined and described by Shakespeare—as he must have seen it with his mind's eyes as he wrote.

REINHARDT FILM TRUE TO SHAKESPEARE PLAY

For the first time in history, a Shakespeare play has come to the talking screen just as it was originally written. In filming "A Midsummer Night's Dream" for Warner Brothers, Dr. Max Reinhardt, noted theatrical producer and director, took no artistic liberties with the "script," which first saw the light of day in the sixteenth century.

Mendelssohn's Music Used

Felix Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" was not written for a wedding. It was composed as part of the music for Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream." All of the Mendelssohn music has been retained for the production which Dr. Max Reinhardt directed for Warner Brothers. It has been specially arranged and fitted to the film by Erich Wolfgang Korngold, celebrated maestro and composer.

FILM MAKERS WIN
$50,000 RACE WITH
DEATH OVER POSY

The strangest race against death ever staged in Hollywood saw $50,000 pitted against the life of a single beautiful flower.

A Passion Flower was needed for several scenes in "A Midsummer Night's Dream," the Warner Bros. production to show at the FERGUSON THEATRE. This flower blooms but once a year and lives only 24 hours.

After great difficulty, one was located in the town of Vista and rushed to the studio.

The scenes had to be made while the flower lived!

Members of the cast, technical crew and equipment were assembled with special instructions to speed up. Every lost moment would cost heavily.

If the company should complete two-thirds of its work and leave one-third unfinished, all the scenes taken would be wasted, about $50,000 worth of time, material and other costs.

The work was completed in sixteen hours. Death lost the race, but six hours later the flower was dead. Not all the genius of movieland could keep it alive.

"A Midsummer Night's Dream" was made into a gigantic spectacle by the famous producer, Max Reinhardt. It is set to the beautiful strain of Mendelssohn's music, as arranged by Erich Wolfgang Korngold. Special dances were created by Bronislawa Nijinska and Nina Theilade.

There is an all star cast which includes James Cagney, Joe E. Brown, Dick Powell, Jean Muir, Victor Jory, Hugh Herbert, Frank McHugh and scores of others. The picture was directed by Reinhardt and William Dieterle from the screen play by Charles Kenyon and Mary McCall, Jr., both noted writers.

MISS JENKINS AND

It seems that the 1935 Christmas marriages are rather hard to learn about. For example, last Saturday afternoon, two young ladies came into the Herald office and reported that a friend of theirs, Miss Oleta Jenkins and Mr. Audrey Hodnett, were married on December 21. So that was news to us. The Herald just can't read people's minds and we regret being late in chronicling important news like a marriage, especially when the contracting parties are close friends to Ye, editor.

Miss Jenkins and Mr. Hodnett were married at the home of the bride's parents. Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Jenkins, of the Dovie community, by Rev. Fielder. She is one of the charming young women of this community, accomplished and has won for herself the admiration and friendship of a great circle of friends.

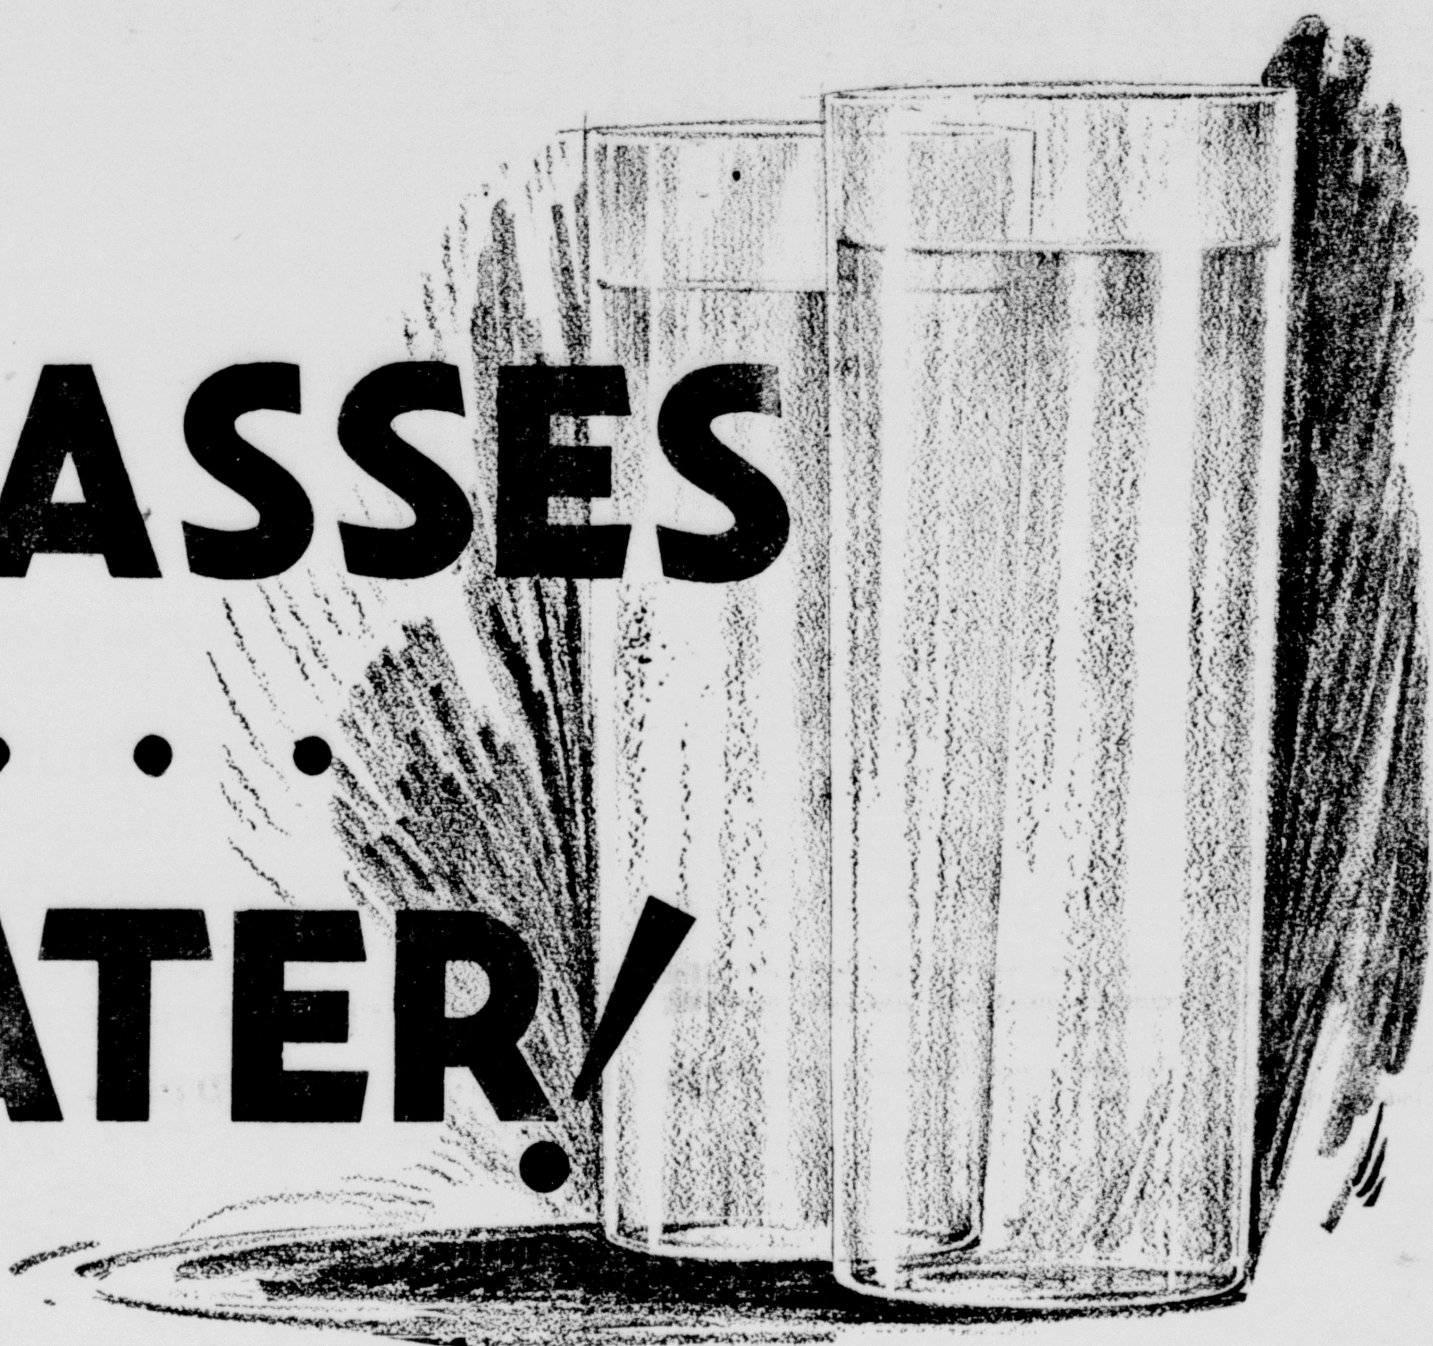

Mr. Hodnett is a son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Hodnett, of the Neinda community, and a young farmer of stability and promise.

Miss Pauline Young, a nurse in Texarkana, Texas, came over for a New Year visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Young of the Boyd Chapel community. Mr. Young and his daughter, Miss Pat, accompanied Miss Pauline back to her place of work, leaving Hamlin, Saturday.

Mrs. Duffield Smith and little son, Duffield, Jr., of Dallas, are guests this week in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Cassle.

GLASSES OF . . . WATER!

Suppose someone threw a glass or two of water on your walls and furniture every hour. Literally, this happens in your home if you are troubled with "sweating" walls during the heating season.

All air contains some moisture and "sweating" walls are caused by too much moisture in the air of the room. Water vapor is exhaled by everyone at each breath and additional water vapor is given off by the fuel as it burns in your heating appliances. The water vapor from these sources combines with the moisture already present in the atmosphere and when the room air reaches a super-saturated condition the excess moisture or "sweat" collects on walls, doors, furniture and other cold surfaces.

"Sweating" walls are most commonly experienced in homes that use open flame types of individual room heaters exclusively but fail to provide adequate ventilation. This type of equipment is rarely vented to a flue and all the water vapor from the burning fuel is expelled into the room air. The unvented open flame heater is practical for quick heat in one room and can be used with great satisfaction if sufficient ventilation and circulation of air is provided to keep the room air from becoming over-loaded with moisture.

Moving air favors evaporation and helps prevent heat stagnation by keeping the temperature within normal limits. Therefore, open the window nearest the heater in each room slightly at the top and bottom. Keep connecting doors open so that a natural circulation of pure warmed air prevails throughout the house. With these simple and healthful methods of winter air-conditioning you will be able to reduce "wall sweating" to a minimum.

For your health's sake, and to obtain the greatest value from the fuel you are using, heat your entire house during the short winter season and provide adequate ventilation.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Rhoton gave their annual dinner, Sunday, December 29th, 1935 in their home—three miles north of McCaulley.

All of the children and grandchildren were present.

At the noon hour, a delicious dinner was enjoyed by all. After the noon hour, Mr. and Mrs. Rhoton presented each of their six married children a quilt top and small silver pillow.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Mahaffey and four children, from Royston; Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Rhoton and five children, from Wise Chapel; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Meek and two children, from Neinda; Mr. and Mrs. George Rhoton and three children, from Rotan; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Rhoton and daughter; Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Rhoton and son from McCaulley and the hosts and family.

Little Peggy Joe Kian is very ill in the hospital. We are hoping she will continue to improve as she was the last report that came in.

Many are sick with colds, but trust nothing seriously will result from them.

The meeting is going fine. Bro. Brannon is bringing some real messages. So many things to hinder, the crowd is not very large.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Gray of Georgetown, came up last week to look after their Jones County farms,

You will not hear your starter go slower, s-l-o-w-e-r, s-l-o-w-e-r before Winter Blend Conoco Bronze starts up in this weather. Hence your car will at last have some chance of doing the thing it was intended to do—keep the battery charged with no outside help.

And we promise that you will be able to un-learn your old habit of leaving the choke out for blocks and blocks, which is unnecessary with Conoco Bronze—meaning that you won't waste this gasoline, or get your oil so thin that it needs excessive changes this winter.

Those are the things that really count in choosing your winter gasoline—regardless of all the arguments. Please make a careful note of what this says about our Winter Blend Conoco Bronze, and see if you don't say exactly the same. Continental Oil Company, Established 1875

SOPHOMORE REPORT

The Sophomores had a scavenger and treasure hunt combined last Thursday. Forty-four Sophomores were present. After searching for the scavenger list, everyone started on the treasure hunt. Arriving at the end of the trail, we found that the treasure had been stolen! Games were played at the high school building after the hunt. Mattie Wilkinson won first prize in a game of Bunco and Eddie Friedman won the "booby" prize. The Seniors are giving the Juniors a scavenger and treasure hunt this week.

In a chapel program Wednesday, the Sophomores presented Major Bull and his amateurs. Clifford Reynolds played the part of Major Bull and M. Y. Wilson was the commercial announcer. Among the famous radio stars present were Bing Crosby, played by Bill Norris, Sherbert Marshall, acted by Roy Allen Wilson, Patsy O'Donnell as Mae East, Mattie Wilkinson, Bernice Shelton and Faye Lovern Howard as the Tickin Sisters, Tremblin Trio played by Thomas Carter, Paul Hudson and John Wilson, and the Broadway Chorus, consisting of Roy Allen Wilson, Robert Fowler and Charles Prater. Other members of the Sophomore class represented the Hickville Chorus. Everyone enjoyed this program and the promising amateurs received much praise.

In the next few weeks, the Sophomores are going to have a "haunted house" party.

 GOT IT HALF RIGHT

Last week the Herald got to "bragging" about this part of the world furnishing so many car loads of material for building the underpass in Abilene, and from the "reaction" it seems we gave credit too one-sided.

There are two concerns northwest of Hamlin who will furnish gravel or crushed rock for the underpass, but we reported only one.

This week are informed that the Hamlin Sand and Gravel Company is to furnish the greater part of the 800 car loads. In fact, the 800 loads will be divided between the Hamlin Sand and Gravel Company and the Acme Crushed Stone Company. Now if we get it right the Hamlin Sand and Gravel CoCompany will deliver 534 car loads and the Acme Crushed Stone Company, 266 loads. If this is incorrect, fellows, we shall make another correction.

Chevrolet Appropriates $1,000,000 to Purchase Used Cars

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 2.—Chevrolet dealers are permitted to attach to a used car only if it has been thoroughly reconditioned, and company advertising of used cars in national magazines and in local newspapers, were two important forward steps taken during the year just ended.

"It is now our objective to maintain used car sales at as high a level during January as they have been since the new cars were introduced. The drive we are putting on now is bound to have a wholesome effect throughout the entire dealer organization, and to promote their sales of used cars during a season when used-car movement is most desirable."

First: Chevrolet will pay to the dealer $20.00 for every old automobile (accepted in trade on a new or used car) that he disposes of by scrapping or junking.

Second: Chevrolet will pay a bonus to salesmen whose efforts enable their dealership to sell more used cars in January than it sold in the same month of 1935.

Announcement of the aggressive plan of promoting the sale of worthy used cars and ridding the market of unworthy ones that clog the sales channels of both used and new cars, reveals that Chevrolet, which during the last twelve months has vigorously attacked the used car merchandising problems of its dealers, intends to carry on through 1936 not only with the methods that have already proved successful, but with new and bolder plans.

Mr. Coyle disclosed the plan when he was asked what lay before the automotive industry in the new year. After briefly reviewing 1935, commenting on its $25,000,000 expansion of Chevrolet production facilities, and its increased sales of cars and trucks, Mr. Coyle declared that the progress made by Chevrolet in the past year in raising the standards of used car merchandising was probably the most noteworthy development from the point of view of the dealer.

"Under W. H. Holler, vice president and general sales manager," said Mr. Coyle, "Chevrolet has already instituted two outstanding developments that have greatly relieved the used car problem of the dealer. The 'Guaranteed OK Tag' that Chevrolet

HOW OLD IS YOUR CHEVROLET

Chevrolet's one millionth car of 1935 production is to be presented to the owner of the oldest Chevrolet licensed and in regular use in the United States, according to Mr. H. C. Howard, Zone Manager, Chevrolet Motor Company, Dallas.

Mr. Howard says, "The millionth Chevrolet built within the current year came off the assembly line at Flint, Mich., on December 12, just eight days after Chevrolet produced its eleven millionth car since the beginning of the company."

He continued "Presentation of the millionth car of the year — 1936 Standard coach — will be made to the owner whose Chevrolet is discovered, between December 16th, 1935 and midnight Jan. 15, 1936, to be the oldest model licensed and in regular service.

He specified that, to win, the older Chevrolet must have been regularly licensed for operation during the current year, possessing its own 1935 license tags issued before December 1. It must, also, have been licensed as a passenger car, and be equipped with a complete passenger car body. It must bear the original engine and chassis numbers, legible and unaltered.

To enter a Chevrolet for consideration, the owner need only drive it to any Chevrolet dealer's salesroom and submit it for examination, receiving a blank on which he will report the engine and chassis numbers of the car to the Chevrolet Company at Detroit, where the company's records will determine which is the very oldest in service.

"Chevrolet is happy to present this 1936 model" said Mr. Howard, "because it feels that some recognition is due the owners of Chevrolets. Our achievement of a production totalling well over a million cars during 1935 is to be credited largely to motorists who began purchasing Chevrolet years ago and have placed many repeat orders since then."

"I wish that I could have the thrill that is in store for the owner whose early Chevrolet—a car maybe 15 or 18 years old—will be supplanted by a 1936 model."

Mr. Howard stated that although the presentation will be made as a New Year's gift, the time for submitting cars for consideration has been extended, to include Jan. 15, because of the short period between December 12, the birthday of the millionth car of the year, and the first of the year. Announcement of the award will be made on or about Jan. 22 as soon as the records can be carefully studied to determine exactly who has the oldest Chevrolet in active service.

BEEF CAMPAIGN

Safeway store men will start the new year with an intensive campaign to help the cattle industry encourage a greater public consumption of beef—the first farmer-consumer drive of two national livestock shows to be the company for 1936.

Timed almost simultaneously with held in the west during the early part of January, this initial farmer-consumer campaign will be waged from January 6 to 11 and will be backed by the entire resources of Safeway Stores.

Designating the period of the campaign as "Beef Week," R. W. Doe, vice-president of Safeway, announced that this new effort to aid the producer of food commodities would be conducted almost jointly with the American National Livestock

Expressions of approval for this new Safeway Farmer-Consumer campaign were made by various leaders of the cattle industry in special communications to the Safeway company.

R. C. Pollock, general manager of the National Livestock and Meat Board, informed them that he considered Safeway's campaign to be of immense value to the entire industry.

"Promotional campaigns in the interest of meat such as you have conducted in the past are very worthwhile and are effective in stimulating the interest of the consumers in the product which you are featuring," Pollock said.

"It is the constant pounding which attracts attention of the consumer to any particular product. Your campaigns have been very complete, well organized, and without a doubt very effectively. I know that your activity along this line is appreciated by all branches of the livestock and meat industry."

The American Cattle Growers' Association also commended Safeway for its efforts in behalf of the livestock industry when it said:

"We greatly appreciate this interest in furthering the cause of beef by bringing the beef-consuming public into the National Cattle Program and creating in people all over the country a stronger beef-consciousness."

Miss Elzabelle Watson, President of the "Trailblazer Club" of the Abilene Christian College, announces that Miss Louise Reynolds of Hamlin has been pledged to become a member of her club, along with five other young women. Their traditional initiation of members will be held sometime in the spring.

ANTOHER CHRISTMAS BABY REPORTED

Down at the Safeway Store is a fine, jolly, red-headed, fellow who usually carries a million-dollar smile. But this fellow, and his name is Pat Marlow, does not talk much—that's the reason the Herald did not locate the reason for still broader smiles since about last Christmas Eve. It was that day a fine son came to his apartments. Yep, another "Safeway clerk"—and is Pat stepping high!

Miss Myrtle Lee Cohorn returned last Thursday from a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Cohorn, at Sinton, Texas. She was accompanied by her uncle, O. L. Cohorn and her brother, Marshal, came back to Hamlin for a visit.

Mrs. O. D. Roland and little daughter, of Port Arthur, are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Albritton.
